COURSE DESCRIPTION: This is a senior writing seminar that introduces students to the compliance function in various health-related settings and explores the basics of healthcare compliance. As a writing seminar, students will learn advanced research, writing, citation, and legal analysis skills, culminating in a substantial independent research paper. This course satisfies the School of Law’s Senior Writing Requirement which “requires the production of a paper or papers totaling a minimum of 7500 words in length, which must involve substantial research and analysis of one or more complex legal issues. The seminar shall include significant writing instruction. Faculty supervision of the student writing shall include individual formative and summative assessments, which should include at least one opportunity for students to have an individual conference with the instructor to discuss their work product and then rewrite that work product.” Article III (5)(b)(i)

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

At the end of this course, students will be able to:

- Define and describe key terms and concepts commonly used in connection with compliance programs.
- Identify basic compliance issues, consult relevant sources of guidance on achieving compliance, and develop plans that address compliance challenges and mitigate risk.
- Articulate the need for a diverse and inclusive workforce, recognizing the impact of diversity and inclusion practices on healthcare organizations and patient outcomes.
- Analyze various laws and regulations that govern the healthcare system and understand how they are applied and enforced in the healthcare environment.

COURSE TEXTBOOK: There is no required textbook for this class.

GRADING AND EVALUATION: Research Paper (100% of final grade)

The SIU School of Law has adopted a credit hour policy in compliance with ABA Standard 310. According to ABA Standard 310(b)(1), “a “credit hour” is an amount of work that reasonably approximates: (1) not less than one hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction and two hours of out of-class student work per week for fifteen weeks, or the equivalent amount of work over a different amount of time.” This is a 3 credit-hour class, meaning that we will spend 3 hours together each week. The SIU School of Law rules do provide us with the opportunity to forgo up to four weeks of class meetings for intensive research, writing, and individual conferences on writing projects. Overall, you should plan on spending at least 9 hours each week on course-related work.

ATTENDANCE: There is a maximum of TWO unexcused absences for this course. A student will be withdrawn from the course on their third unexcused absence.

PLAGIARISM: Plagiarizing another's work, in whole or in part, is a violation of the Honor Code and can lead to serious penalties, including expulsion. An Honor Code investigation must also be reported to the Bar Examiners, even if you are cleared of any violation. The Honor Code defines plagiarism as:

passing off another’s ideas, words, or work as one’s own, including written, oral, multimedia, or other work, either word for word or in substance, unless the student author credits the original author and identifies the original author’s work with quotation marks, footnotes, or other appropriate designation in such a way as to make clear the true author of the work.

COLLABORATION WITH OTHERS: You are not allowed to obtain help from any other person (including any other student) or from generative artificial intelligence (including, but not limited to, ChatGPT and Lexis AI) on the required writing assignments in this course. This ban on collaboration includes obtaining written materials from any other person or generative artificial intelligence and communicating with any other person about the assignment. If you violate the ban on collaboration policy, you will receive a failing grade on that assignment. You also may be found in violation of the Honor Code, which can lead to serious penalties, including expulsion. An Honor Code investigation must also be reported to the Bar Examiners, even if you are cleared of any violation. When in doubt about how to proceed, ask me.

Collaboration does not include discussing course work; sharing and discussing ideas, authorities, and concepts; nor reading and critiquing another student’s course work. If at any point you have questions about what is permitted, contact me to discuss before submitting work.

EMERGENCY PROCEDURES: We ask that you become familiar with Emergency Preparedness @ SIU. Emergency response information is available on posters in buildings on campus, on the Emergency Preparedness @ SIU website, and through text and email alerts. To register for alerts, visit <http://emergency.siu.edu/>.

DISABILITY POLICY: SIU Carbondale is committed to providing an inclusive and accessible experience for all students with disabilities. Disability Support Services coordinates the implementation of accommodations. If you think you may be eligible for accommodations but have not yet obtained approval, please contact DSS immediately at 618-453-5738 or disabilityservices.siu.edu. You may request accommodations at any time, but timely requests help to ensure accommodations are in place when needed. Accommodations and services are determined through an interactive process with students and may involve consideration of specific course design and learning objectives in consultation with faculty. Please send approved accommodations to your faculty through the DSS online portal.

SALUKI CARES AND COUNSELING & PSYCHOLOGICAL SERVICES (CAPS): The purpose of Saluki Cares is to develop, facilitate and coordinate a university-wide program of care and support for students in any type of distress—physical, emotional, financial, or personal. By working closely with faculty, staff, students, and their families, SIU will continue to display a culture of care and demonstrate to our students and their families that they are an important part of the community. For Information on Saluki Cares: (618) 453-2461, or siucares@siu.edu, <https://salukicare.siu.edu/>. Associate Dean Sheila Simon ssimon@siu.edu or (618) 536-8321 is available at the Simmons Law School to help students access university resources. Additionally, counseling services are available through CAPS (Counseling and Psychological Services \(CAPS\) | Student Health Services | SIU). A counselor is at the law school every Wednesday from noon until 4:30pm in Room 268 for drop-in appointments.

SAFETY AWARENESS FACTS AND EDUCATION: Title IX makes it clear that violence and harassment based on sex and gender is a Civil Rights offense subject to the same kinds of accountability and the same kinds of support applied to offenses against other protected categories such as race, national origin, etc. If you or someone you know has been harassed or assaulted, you can find the appropriate resources here: <http://safe.siu.edu/>.

ATTACHMENTS: This Syllabus incorporates by reference the Law School Syllabus Attachment and the Provost Syllabus Attachment available on the course D2L page.

SYLLABUS DISCLAIMER: The syllabus is a statement of intent and serves as an implicit agreement between the instructor and the student. Information in the syllabus, other than grade and absence policies, may be subject to change with reasonable advance notice. Every effort will be made to avoid changing the course schedule, but the possibility exists that unforeseen events will make syllabus changes necessary. Any changes to the schedule will be posted to D2L.
