Professor Brittain received his BA ('66) and his JD ('69) from Howard University. John C. Brittain joined the faculty of the University of the District of Columbia David A. Clarke School of Law in 2009 where he served as Acting Dean from 2018 to 2019. Prior to joining UDC Law, he served as Dean of the Thurgood Marshall School of Law at Texas Southern University in Houston, as Emeritus Professor at the University of Connecticut School of Law where he served for twenty-two years, and as Chief Counsel and Senior Deputy Director of the Lawyers’ Committee for Civil Rights Under Law in Washington, D.C. Professor Brittain writes and litigates on issues in civil and human rights, especially in education law. Professor Brittain was one of the original counsel team in Sheff v. O’Neill, the landmark school desegregation case decided by the Connecticut Supreme Court in 1996. He has been president of the National Lawyers’ Guild, a member of the Executive Committee and the Board of the ACLU, and legal counsel to the NAACP at the local level and national office of the General Counsel.
The Hiram H. Lesar Distinguished Lecture Series was established by the School of Law in 1992 to honor founding Dean Hiram H. Lesar, whose many personal and professional concerns included an interest in civil rights.
